

Why

1

In supervised learning we handle pairs of records  $(x^i, y^i) \in X \times Y$ , and the object is a predictor. In unsupervised learning, we handle only the input records  $x \in X$ .

---

<sup>1</sup>Future editions will include.

Unsupervised Learning Algorithms