

Definition

A linear transformation T is an isomorphism (a linear isomorphism) if it is invertible. Two vector spaces V and W are isomorphic (or linearly isomorphic) if there exists an isomorphism from V to W .

