

Why

If two random variables have the same cumulative distribution functions, will they have the same law? And the converse? NEED: probability space construction from cumulative distribution function.

Result

Prop. 1. The cumulative distribution functions of two random variables are equal if and only if their laws are equal.

Proof.

□

