

Why

We extend the notion of a square number to the reals.

Definition

A number $a \in \mathbf{R}$ is square if there exists $b \in \mathbf{R}$ so that $b^2 = a$.

