

Why

We often model phenomena in science as mappings between experimental conditions and a real-valued response.¹

Definition

Let \mathcal{C} and Θ be sets. We often model the relationship

Although w

¹Future editions will modify.

