

Space Vectors

Why

If we can interpret the points in  ${\bf R}^2$  as displacements, what of the points in  ${\bf R}^3$

Definition

A space vector (or vector, three-dimensional vector, 3-vector) is an element of  ${\bf R}^3.^1$

&lt;sup>1</sup>Future editions will include visualizations.

